

PIVOINES CAPANO
Catalogue 2008 of Intersectional hybrids (Itoh)

Bartzella (Anderson, 1986)
249$

(+12)

An American Peony Society Grand champion winner in 2002. Bartzella is the Queen in the garden! Robust plant with an abundance of large semi-double to double yellow flowers. A luminous yellow with huge flowers! Every flower measures 15 to 20 cm. The inside part of the flower is tinted with red. Fragrant. Good flowering plant, each mature Bartzella can hold more than 60 flowers with a continuing blooming period from two weeks to one month. The flowers are held high above the foliage by robust stems. Start blooming at the end of mid-season until sometimes late season. Excellent plant both for the cut and dried flowers. Height: 90cm.

Callies Memories (Anderson, 1990)
189$

(+11)

Semi-double to double flowers of an apricot and cream color with brown-like center. The margin of the petals presents fine rosy streaks and is slightly cut. At the opening, the flower has the shape of a rose. Flowers held well above the magnificent foliage. Lightly fragrant. Start flowering at mid-season. Height: 90cm

Canary Brilliants (Anderson, 1999)
189$

Double, smaller flowers than Bartzella, of a very soft yellow. Romantic flower! Long stem with a carnation shape flower. Makes an excellent cut flower. The flowers are carried well above the green foliage. Start flowering at mid-season. Height: 90cm. Fragrant.

Cora Louise (Anderson, 1986)
189$

(+11)

Huge semi-double to double white flowers. The contrast between the dark crimson color of the center of this peony and the pure white petals is magnificent. Beautiful fragrant flowers. Robust stems hold the flowers well above the foliage. Height 90 cm. Start blooming at mid-season. Very reliable plant with lot of flowers year after year. Cora Louise was the name of Mister Anderson's grandmother. A true beauty in a pure state!

Court Jester (Anderson, 1999 )
149$

A pretty and different intersectional! Court Jester wears small flowers of simple form. At the opening, flowers are of a yellow-orange color with red-burgundy flares contrasting with the golden stamens and red stigmas. A very nice looking flower! Flowers fade gently as they age toward a yellowish-creamy color. Each stem wear many flowers extending the blooming period.. Height of 80 cm. Mid-season bloomer. Fragrant flower.

---

First Arrival (Anderson, 1986)

179$

(+5)

Large semi-double to double flowers of a pink-lavender color at the opening which fades gradually to reach a pale pink coloration. However, the basis of each petal keeps its intensity and its dark lavender color without fading. So, as the flower advances in age, appears a contrast between the dark lavender center and the slightly pale rose petals. A magnificent flower! Lot of flowers at mid-season. Fragrant flowers are carried well above the foliage on firm stems. Height 90 cm.

---

Garden Treasure (Hollingsworth, 1984)

149$

(+10)

A Gold medal winner awarded by the American Peony Society in 1996. Big semi- double flowers, of a true yellow. The basis of each petal is slightly red stained, which gives a lot of luminosity to this flower's center. Each stem carries one to three flowers buds, opening up in sequence permitting to stretch the flowering season on more of two weeks. Blooming period extend from mid to almost late season. The flower is carried well above the foliage on rigid stems. Fragrant. More compact plant than Bartzella. Height: 75 cm. Excellent plant, this peony will well deserve its investment.

---

Hillary (Anderson, 1999 )

189$

(+7)

Huge double flowers of a very dark pink at the opening that fades gradually to a cream color on the upper part of the petals whereas the lower part keeps its red-rose coloration. A spectacular effect! A chameleon! When the peony reaches its maturity and hold a multitude of flowers with different fading stages, it is a real traffic stopper! Height: 90 cm. Start blooming at mid season. Fragrant.

---

Julia Rose (Anderson)

169$

(+7)

Simple to semi-double flowers of a red-cherry color on the opening that fades gradually toward an orange salmon and finally become of a mixture of cream and pale rose. The effect is exceptional when the peony reaches its maturity, as with Hillary, because it holds about forty flowers at different stages of coloration. The flower is carried well above the foliage on firm stems. Height: 90 cm. Flowering season starts at mid-season. Good for the garden but makes also an excellent cut flower with its dark green foliage and long stems.

---

Kopper Kettle (Anderson, 1999)

219$

Rare and sought after! Anotherameleon like Hillary and Julia Rose but on the orange side! A plant with spectacular colorations! Large semi- double to double flowers. The flowers are tricolor with the red, the yellow and the orange what gives them a brassy color when seen from afar. As Hillary and Julia Rose, the flowers gradually fade passing from the orange red at the opening to a cream-colored at the end of flowering. The flower center keeps its brassy hues until the end. This peony hold a multitude of flowers carried well above the green foliage on rigid stems. Robust plant. Start blooming at mid-season. Height: 90 cm. Only few divisions available.

---

Lemon Dream (Anderson, 1999)

179$

Large yellow semi-double flowers, similar in form to Bartzella but with a very special feature! The flowers are generally yellow with pink streaks on some petals. But, intersectionals could be instable and it can appear very crazy things...In Lemon Dream, sometimes the plant can generate a flower half yellow and half pink! Keep your camera close by! The flowers are carried by robust stems, well above foliage. Magnificent port. Look at the picture! Excellent for the garden or for cut flowers. Height: 120 cm. Mid-season.

---

Morning Lilac (Anderson, 1999)

189$

(+4)

Huge simple to semi-double flowers, of a very dark lavender-pink, nearly fuschia. A truly spectacular color! The petals are veined of fine white streaks. The center of the flower is crimson, nearly black and opens on red carpels surrounded by a golden stamens ring. The borders of the petals are waved and nicely cut giving the impression of a gigantic rose! These big flowers are carried on very robust stems. Long blooming season. Fragrant. Height: 90 cm. A plant that really captures all attentions! Very limited plants for sale.

---

Pastel Splendor (Anderson, 1996)

169$

(+6)

A peony for the romantic garden. Large simple flower of a cup shape. The yellow petals, nearly cream-colored, are streaked of fine lines of a very pale pink. The margin of each petal is edged of rose. But it is the center of the flower that draws the attention! A crimson stain marks the basis of each of the ten petals, which surrounds a fine crown of white stamens. This contrast between the dark center and the very pale yellow petals illuminate the center of the flower. The stems are robust and carry the flowers well above foliage. Height 90 cm. Start blooming at mid-season.

---

Prairie Charm (Hollingsworth, 1992)

109$

(+9)

Another baby of the breeder Don Hollingsworth, also creator of the well-known Garden Treasure. Prairie Charm bears yellow semi-doubles flowers. Flowers are of a medium size. Each petal has a reddish flare at the base contrasting nicely with the yellow of the rest of the petal. Very often, the margin of each petal is dentelée giving a special effect to the flower. Mature plant height 90 cm. Flowers are fragrant. Excellent peony for the garden, very reliable.

---

Scarlet Heaven (Anderson, 1999)

169$

One of the rare red colored intersectional hybrids that deserve to be on the market. Its foliage didn't get these ugly brown spots that appears on some others red intersectionals. Large simple flower of a shining red with a center of golden stamens. Very nice plant with a remarkable port. The rigid stems carry these magnificent flowers well above foliage. If red is your color, that's a plant for you!. Blooms at mid-season. Height 90 cm. Fragrant.

---

Sunshine Sensation (Anderson)

169$

Sunset on a stem ! This is a very good description of this pretty flower, yellow-orange at the opening and fading softly to end almost of a creamy color. Strong stems bear the simple flowers above the foliage without any support. Fragrant flowers. Plant of 90 cm. Exceptional color attracting the eyes of visitors!

---

Watermelon Wine (Anderson, 1999)

189$

Huge simple flowers of a dark raspberry-pink color hold straight by rigid stems above foliage. A remarkable port! The basis of each petal is of a dark red wine color. The outside of the petals is veined of fine white lines that increase in importance as the flower ages. The cup shape form of the flower opens as the flower matures to become a wide flat flower Extremely reliable plant with long blooming period. Lightly fragrant. Height 90 cm.

---

Yellow Crown (Itoh-Smirnow)

89$

(+11)

One of the very first intersectional hybrid to be created by M. Toichi Itoh of Japan from a cross between the herbaceous peony Kakoden with the tree peony Alice Harding and imported in America Beautiful yellow semi-double flower with red flares at the base of the petals. More compact plant of 85cm. Foliage and strong stems typical of the intersectionals but the flowers are sometimes hidden by the foliage, same as with the tree peony Alice Harding, its parent. Mid-season bloomer. Fragrant flowers.

---